

Citizens of the USA,

This is your president speaking.

NASA has been investigating, through our advanced satellite technologies, a strange situation. They have discovered an unidentified ship coming towards earth. They have investigated it for a long time, and have come to the conclusion that aliens are aboard this ship and are planning to invade earth. This has never happened before and this is why we need to take the most serious measures to protect our planet and our people. Today, I am here to assure you, citizens of the world, that we will protect you!

I am speaking to you on behalf of our nation and the all the world's leaders. I urge you to stay calm. We have been preparing for this kind of threat for a long time and every nation has also prepared for this. We have evacuation and shelter plans for everyone.

Our military has been trained for such a threat and....
(president interrupted by his special security staff)

It has just come to my attention that there isn't one ship, there are hundreds... thousands. We are up against a bigger challenge now but don't be alarmed.

As I was saying, our military has been trained for such a threat and has been building safety bunkers for the past 30 years, preparing them with food, water, and basic needs for our people to be safe. These will keep us all safe for the next year. For our plan to succeed we will have to work together as a team and it is not the time for individual heroic action. Our heroic action is working together. It is mandatory for your safety for all of you to come to the bunker. Everyone is important. We need everyone to survive this threat.

You might ask, how can we trust you? How will we know it's real and it's not all fake? Well, we will show you NASA's Satellite footage and hopefully you will believe us.

We ask you to stay calm, gather your most important personal belongings and documents, and wait for military vehicles to take you to the bunkers.

We promise to protect you as best as we all can.

May God protect us all.
