

Global Reflection Sheet

The group worked collaboratively through the project, ensuring that everyone had equal input and responsibility. We tried to stay neat and organized on our tasks, meeting the requirements and deadline. As we made sure that the project was visually appealing.

Overall, the group demonstrated strengths in collaboration, organization and research.

However, there was a weakness in the clarity of message, as by text there were misunderstandings on whom should get the laptop and when, but we got it sorted out quickly and began to form stronger bonds and communication.

I am very happy I got to learn how to gain better communication and life-lasting skills.
