

i learned a lot from this project for example i learned how to take a responsibility because my team members was not helpful with me at first d then when they felt a bit pressure some of them started to help a little bit but i already finished all of the project. and i also improved my communication skills and how to differentiate between the studying and the friendship because if I mix things together I will fail.

firstly no one entered the meets and answer their phone so it was a must to do it by myself so i did a powerpoint and a flyer then we talked with you and you told me to keep it on the side incase something happens and i should always ask them to do a meet no one made a move except me but at the end had and fares did the work but noun didn't help with this project he helped with others .

To be honest i have a weakness that i cant do more than one thing at a time but i tried my best to manage this problem and i also need to improve my management skills.
