Mrs. Claus: Okay, everyone! Thank you all for your interest in filling in for Santa this year. The line of interested candidates is over here.

Elf 1: what is she talking about?

Elf 2: You know, once every 100 years Santa takes Christmas off.

Elf 1: I actually did not know that.

Easter Bunny: Then, what are you in line for?

Elf 1: I heard someone was serving refreshments!

Tooth Fairy: Oh boy... year.

Reindeer 1: No silly, this is the line of people interested in taking over for Santa this year.

Reindeer 2: Yeah, because he works so hard year after year after year...

Polar Bear 1: Traveling all around the world!

Polar Bear 2: Bringing presents to good girls and boys.

Tiger 1: And he almost never takes a day off!

Elf 1: Wow, he must have a lot of vacation time built up!

Tiger 2: Well, yes. And that's why this year, Santa is taking a "staycation!"

Candidates: He deserves it! He sure does! Absolutely! Hardest worker I know!

Easter Bunny: Too bad for the rest of you, because I'm the obvious choice!

Tooth Fairy: Hop along there buddy, it's going to be me for sure!

Polar Bear 1: Yeah, if all they want for Christmas is their two front teeth, you're in.

Polar Bear 2: But don't count on it!

Elf 1: An elf is the clear choice!

Elf 2: We already know all the ins and outs of delivering presents.

Reindeer 1: Yeah, but you won't be going anywhere without a reindeer!

Reindeer 2: It's definitely going to be one of us!

Candidates except Hughey: I'm the obvious choice. Me for sure! It's gotta be me. Me, me, me!
