Conclusion

Why do tourists visit Italy?

Italy

Italy is a peninsula in the south of Europe. It is surrounded by the Mediterranean Sea. Italy's capital city is Rome. The name "Italy" comes from the Greek word "Italos", which means calf.

Historical sites

There are many historical sites worth visiting in Italy. The Colosseum is a very important theatre where emperors organized competitions. Another famous tourist attraction is the leaning tower of Pisa which was used as a watch tower in World War II.

Food

The traditional dishes of Italy are pasta, spaghetti, lasagna and Ravioli. Italy is also famous for pizza, which was first invented in Naples. A famous Italian sweet is called "baba".

Culture

Italy is the country of music, art and fashion. It is the native land of very important painters and singers. Italy is also known for fashion. Very famous fashion brands like Valentino and Versace are Italian brands. The Carnival of Venice is a very popular festival where people wear masks and dance.

Italy is visited by 50 million tourists a year. There is certainly something for everyone.
