Making words into plurals

One, two, three,
There's lots more of me!
Most of us just add an 's',
The other ones you mustn't guess.

You don't always simply add an s to make words into plurals.

Look at these examples.

Examples: crash → crashes

patch → patches

mass → masses

church → churches

Examples: leaf → leaves

loaf → loaves

life → lives

Examples: baby → babies

body → bodies

memory → memories.

Examples: kilo → kilos

radio → radios

stereo → stereos

hero → heroes

potato → potatoes

What happens if singular words end in 'ch', 's', 'sh', 'x' or 'z'?

The plur ends in '

What happens if words end in 'f' or 'fe'?

Most words cha 'f' to 'ves'.

What happens if words end in a consonant followed by 'y'?

Change the to 'ies'.

What happens if words end in 'o'?

Some change to 'oes' and others just add an You have to learn them

However, there are exceptions to the rules. You have to learn these individually.

singular	plural
woman	women
person	people
roof	roofs
chief	chiefs
sheep	sheep
scissors	scissors