

Name: _____

Date: _____

Homophones- There, Their, and They're

- Homophones are words that have the same sound as another word but have different spellings and meanings.
- ✓ There- Used when talking about a place (It must be nice to live there.)
- ✓ Their- Used to show possession (Put their jackets in the closet.)
- ✓ They're- Used as a contraction for they and are (They're my best friends.)

Choose the correct homophone in parentheses to correctly complete each sentence.

1. Please place their leftover food in the refrigerator.
(their, they're)
2. I would like to walk past there soon and gaze at the scenery.
(their, there)
3. They're not home right now so we'll leave a note in the mailbox.
(There, They're)
4. I would like to go swimming, but they're not here to watch me.
(their, they're)
5. Patty volunteered to put their homework in the basket.
(their, there)
6. You can see the baseball game perfectly if you sit over there.
(they're, there)
7. This is their secret hiding spot.
(their, there)
8. They're going to be so proud when they see your grades!
(Their, They're)
9. You can find some amazing books over there in the corner.
(there, they're)